BIANUAL JOURNAL OF ARQUITECTURE

arquitecturas is the main revue of architecture of Lusófona University. It is conceived as a platform for discussion about architecture established on three principal fields: research, education, and practice. arquitecturas aims at bringing together those who learn, teach, investigate, or practice architecture to foster contemporary debates about living spaces. The journal has a tripartite structure: the first is dedicated to long and structured peer-reviewed papers; the second is reserved for short and peer-reviewed papers of students, abstracts of ongoing Ph.D. theses as well as for publication of educational activities like workshop results, charrettes etc.; the third part encompasses built and unbuilt architecture projects, interviews, and editorial contributions.
